How to make a mouth out of paper:

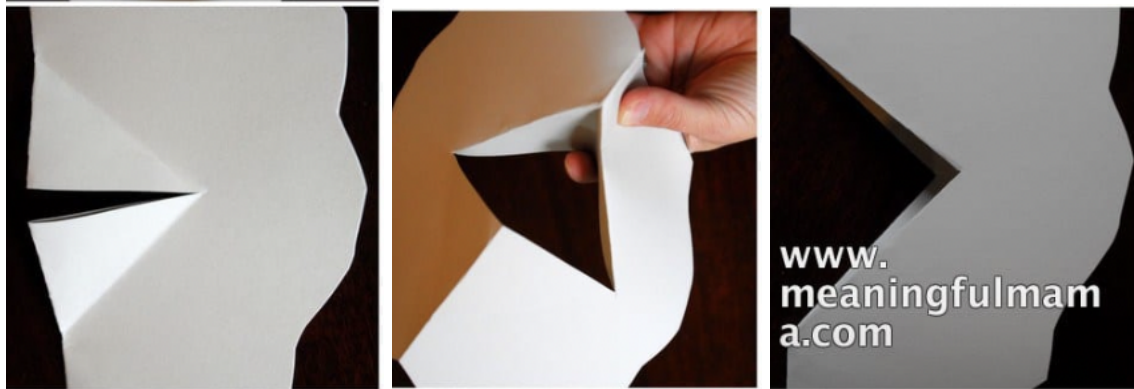

1. Fold paper in half.
2. Draw or visualize a line from the fold side of the paper to the middle of the paper.
3. Cut on your line.
4. Fold two flaps down from your line and crease the edge to create two triangle flaps.
5. Once the flaps are creased, return both sides to the original position.
6. Open the paper.
7. This could get tricky....push the triangle through to the other side of the paper using your finger or thumb.
8. Do the same with the other side. Then, close the card flat and crease all your folded edges. It will look like there is a triangle taken out of the paper along the folded edge. Open this up and you will have your mouth.

To make the stone:

You will want to fold a paper in half and then cut out the shape of a stone, being careful of where the fold is and opening it up to make sure you have the shape you like for your stone. Once you have your stone shape, follow the above instructions to make your mouth.

Once your stone with an open mouth is created, take a dark piece of paper and fold it down the center. Glue the rock down (avoiding the mouth) and line up the fold of the rock with the fold of the under paper.

Glue down googly eyes.
